

Speech to the Virginia Convention Patrick Henry

ANALYZING PERSUASIVE TECHNIQUES As you read Henry’s speech, use the chart below to keep track of logical and emotional appeals he uses. In the first column, write down persuasive words, phrases, and sentences, noting where they appear in the text. Then, in the second column, indicate whether the quotations appeal to logic or to the audience’s emotions. Continue your chart on a separate sheet of paper if you need to.

Words, Phrases, and Sentences (page #)	Logical or Emotional Appeal?	Why It Works

AFTER YOU READ While reading, you identified logical and emotional appeals in Henry’s speech. Now review your chart, and in the third column explain why each appeal is effective.
